This is the first office action for application number 10/633,478, Computer Armrest, filed on July 30, 2003.

Information Disclosure Statement

The listing of references in the specification is not a proper information disclosure statement. 37 CFR 1.98(b) requires a list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office, and MPEP § 609 A(1) states, "the list may not be incorporated into the specification but must be submitted in a separate paper." Therefore, unless the references have been cited by the examiner on form PTO-892, they have not been considered.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 1 is allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Art Unit: 3632

Figures 12 and 13 of Chen '469 teach the computer armrest of the present invention including an elbow supporter combined pivotally with a first shaft of an upper arm to turn freely:

the upper arm having said first shaft extending upward at a right side and also a second shaft extending downward at a left side:

a pinch base consisting of an upper pinch base and a lower pinch base, the upper and the lower pinch base respectively having a vertical toothed surface formed on a vertical side facing each other to engage with each other for adjusting, either of the upper and the vertical slot for an lower pinch base having a threaded hole or a adjusting bolt to fit through and screw with, the upper pinch base having a left shaft fitting in either of two shaft holes of a mouse pad, the lower pinch base having a threaded hole in its left side for a bolt of a pinch plate to screw with so as to adjust the distance between the upper surface of the pinch plate and a lower surface of the upper pinch base, the lower pinch base further having a turning shaft base at a rear side, the turning shaft base having a intermediate opening for a front turning base to fit therein:

the front turning base having a shaft base formed in a left portion, the shaft base fitting in the intermediate opening of the lower pinch base, a shaft fitting vertically through the turning shaft base of the lower pinch base and the shaft base of the front turning base from under, a shaft cap closing the shaft with a washer at the lower side of the front turning base so that the front turning base may be combined with the lower pinch base stably, wherein a rear turning base has a shaft base formed in a right portion for the second shaft of the upper arm to extend through with a ring gasket and a washer, a shaft cap closing the shaft at a lower side of the shaft base.

However, Chen '469 fails to specifically teach the front turning base to have a vertical toothed surface with a center threaded hole, the rear turning base to have a vertical circular toothed surface with a center threaded hole, wherein a connect arm has a front end and a rear end respectively provided with a vertical circular toothed surface with a center threaded hole, an adjusting bolt fitting through a spring and then engaging with the threaded holes of the front and the rear turning base and the connect arm and locked with a helical spring lock washer so that the connect arm may be combined with the front and the rear turning base stably.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Gutke '384, Wilson '367, Fleming '674, Leeds et al. '987, Kobelt '526, Holttä '501, Johnson '439, McAllister et al. '034, Blackwell '449, Takahashi '725, Lauzon et al. '771 and Waxham et al. '563 divulge various adjustable rests.
